THE MORNING STAR ARRIVES IN ORBIT

LONG BEFORE HUMANITY WAS SEEDING ON YOUR WORLD, LONG BEFORE IT WAS DECLARED ON MINE... A MONSTEROUS RACE OVERRAN THE TAURI-SYSTEM. HUNGRY FOR FLESH, PARCHED FOR THE LIVING-- THEY LEFT ASH, SILENCE, AND DEATH IN THEIR WAKE.

AT LAST, THEIR HUNGER BROUGHT THEM TO A SMALL BLUE WORLD-- AND THERE THEY FOUND A PEACEFUL PEOPLE DEVOTED TO THE CREATOR. THEY DESCENDED UPON THEM WITHOUT MERCY, FEEDING THEIR APPETITE UNTIL BLOOD STAINED YOUR EARTH. THEN...

A HERO LEAPT ACROSS THE STARS BEARING A WEAPON FROM THE CREATOR'S ARMOURY-- THE AMON-I. FORGED TO SUNDER REALMS, TO TURN RIVERS TO BLOOD, AND SOIL TO ASH.

WHEN THE HERO'S FURY WAS SPENT, HE SURRENDERED HIS SOUL TO HEAVEN. AND SO HE WAS RAISED TO CELESTIAL RANKS... HIS NAME HALLOWED, SPOKEN IN REVERENT WHISPERS FOR GENERATIONS TO COME.

THE WEAPON WAS BURIED DEEP WITHIN THE NOW-CLEANSED WORLD-- A HOLY WORLD-- FOR NONE POSSESSED THE HERO'S BLOOD TO WEILD IT.

EONS WOULD PASS UNTIL ONE CAME SEARCHING FOR THE AMON-I.
THE ACCURSED IBLIS

FORBIDDEN HISTORY

FROM 'THE FALLEN HERO' - PROVEST UNK

Generation after generation Iblis' minions toiled across the planet, digging, searching, dying. They built his kingdom with blood and lash, while their master remained confined to his prison in the frozen lands to the south.

Iblis' prison became a temple, built of despair and horror. Deep within his halls a hundred voices screamed in the darkness, the wretched sacrifices of the innocent, their cries bound to malice. This was a fortress of pain and rage. Over ages his thralls raised altars from death and stone, their hands worn to bone, their minds shattered to the brink.

But the AMON-I, that weapon of Godly providence, was hidden away, burried deep within the heart of your EARTH. It alone has the power to keep Iblis "chained" to these lands, to this world.

Iblis yearned for the day he would wield the AMON-I; he dreamed of the fires he would set upon creation, but one piece eluded him- the SHIRA, the Key, lost and perhaps never to be found.

THE GREAT HOUSES OF THE ALADFAR CONSORTIUM

Empires are not held together by ceremony alone. They endure through blood, inheritance, fear, and the stories they tell about their right to rule.

The Aladfar Consortium is a five-planet nation governed by ancient custom and dominated by five Great Houses, each descended from the line of the Prophet Zhor. Though they share a common origin, unity has never meant peace. Old victories have hardened into law, old grievances into tradition, and every House guards its power with the memory of what was taken—and what may yet be reclaimed.

HOUSE SHELIAK

The ruling House of the Consortium. For millennia, House Sheliak has held the throne through force of inheritance, spectacle, and political supremacy. Their rule defines the present age, even as its foundations begin to tremble.

HOUSE ENLIL-ZHOR

The oldest and purest bloodline of Zhor. Though displaced from the throne long ago, House Enlil-Zhor still carries immense ancestral and spiritual weight. In their name survive the oldest traditions, the oldest wounds, and perhaps the oldest claim of all.

HOUSE IROGI

Power behind the War Council and keeper of the Hypergates. House Irogi commands strategic reach across the Consortium and stands closest to the machinery of conflict, mobility, and state power.

HOUSE HEIL-EINN

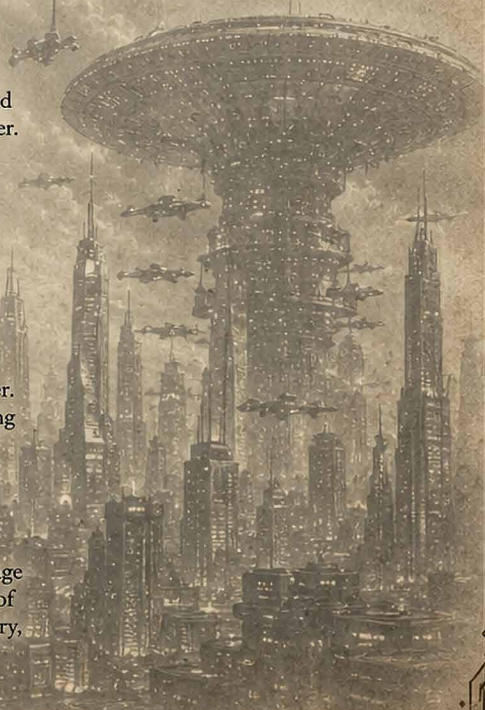

Masters of commerce, finance, and institutional wealth. House Heil-Einn understands that empires are often ruled as much by debt and influence as by armies and crowns.

HOUSE HIND

Custodian of civil infrastructure and the architecture of daily order. House Hind sustains the systems beneath society's surface, proving that control is often quietest where it is most essential.

A FRACTURED LEGACY

All five Houses claim descent from one sacred lineage. Yet lineage alone has never preserved harmony. Beneath the polished face of the Consortium lies a civilization still haunted by prophecy, rivalry, and the fear that history has not finished with any of them.

Below the ship, a diagram illustrates the "galactic highway" network, showing "ORBITAL HUBS" and "SPACEPORTS" connecting "THE ALADFAR CONSORTIUM" and "THE ANUK EMPIRE". The bottom section of the illustration shows a detailed view of a cargo port where several C.C.C. cargo containers are being loaded onto a ship. A large crane is lifting a container, and a forklift is moving one on the ground. Astronauts in spacesuits are visible on the port's walkways. The background features a large planet with rings and other smaller spacecraft in the distance.

NEWS

THE JOURNEY IS JUST BEGINNING...

COMING NEXT IN AGE OF PROPHECY

THE DOOM OF ALADFAR

The blast at the Samko-an did more than shatter a royal celebration.

It split open the illusion of stability.

A REALM IN SHOCK

With the Consortium reeling from the attack, House Enlil-Zhor is pulled toward the center of a crisis it can no longer avoid.

Prince Magnus fights to survive—holding to hope, refusing to surrender the belief that Farah may still live.

But injury, grief, and political pressure leave little room for mourning in a system built on succession.

THE HEIR EMERGES

Into this uncertainty steps Prince Largos Enlil-Zhor.

Elder son. Heir. Brother.

A man shaped by duty, distance, and the humiliations inflicted upon his House for generations.

To Zira, he has long been a source of warmth and protection.

To others, he is becoming something far more difficult to define: poised, capable, admired—and perhaps dangerous in ways even he does not yet fully understand.

Power is never given freely in the Consortium.

Not even to those
it claims are born to wear it.

A DANGEROUS PATH

As whispers gather around the future of the throne, Largos steps into a realm where:

- ◆ affection is never simple,
- ◆ loyalty is never clean,
- ◆ and power is rarely offered without a cost.

What begins as family crisis will soon harden into political struggle, and what appears to be inheritance may yet prove to be a trap.

PROPHECY CONTINUES

Meanwhile, Zira's path is moving toward something far older than royal succession.

Beneath the intrigues of House and crown, prophecy continues its patient work.

THE NEXT CHAPTER WILL NOT BE DEFINED BY WHO SURVIVES.

IT WILL BE DEFINED BY WHAT SURVIVAL DEMANDS.

YOUR MYTHS WERE BORN FROM OUR HISTORY

In the five-planet Aladfar Consortium, power is inherited through blood, guarded by Great Houses, and haunted by ancient prophecy.

Princess Zira Enlil-Zhor, daughter of a fading bloodline, has spent years far from the capital, hidden within the rigid walls of a Monastery. But while she struggles through cruelty, isolation, and the burdens of lineage, forces far greater than courtly politics are already moving around her. In the glittering capital of Heligander, old resentments sharpen inside the royal family as questions of inheritance, legitimacy, and destiny begin to surface. Then, in a single night of fire and ruin, the illusion of stability is torn apart.

As House Enlil-Zhor is thrust toward the center of crisis, an older danger stirs beneath the realm; one bound to the SHIRA, the AMON-I, and a prophecy that may reach far beyond the fall of kings.

AGE OF PROPHECY: DOOM OF ALADFAR, VOL. 1 begins a sweeping sci-fi fantasy saga of bloodline, power, faith, and destiny.
